

Crocus angustifolius

|                      |  |
|----------------------|--|
| Flowering Time       | Spring   |
| Distribution         | Crimea, Ukraine, Armenia                             |
| Native Climate       | Cold winter, warm dry summer                         |
| Wild Habitat         | Open places and scrub land in mountains              |
| Distinctive Features | Yellow flowers marked purple, reticulate corm tunic  |
| Closest Relatives    | Crocus ancyrensis ; Crocus reticulatus |
| Cultivation          | Warm dryish summer rest. Increases well              |
| Requirements         | under glass  |
| Availability         | Widely available from specialist bulb nurseries      |

Crocus angustifolius, bright golden flowers in spring. An easy and reliable garden plant over many years in a free draining soil in eastern England. Another form is shown below.

